

Residential sector: Solutions for developers and managing companies

One of the security and automation systems sales drivers in Russia is the housing market. Equipping residential complexes with security system & automated control systems increases the prestige and commercial attractiveness of the facilities, stimulates the business of developers and managing companies and forms demand for a whole range of technical means:

- CCTV
- Access control
- Intercom systems
- Automated Resource Management
- Security alarms
- Automatic fire suppression systems
- Automated parking

TB Forum 2018 invites manufacturers and suppliers of technical security equipment for the residential sector to present their products & solutions and have a row of meetings with potential customers & partners:
