Our association is the beating heart of the European fire safety and security industry. Therefore we should be the partner of choice for questions related to fire safety and security of all authorities, policy makers, research and educational bodies as well as other organizations at European and international level. Therefore we should continuously develop ourselves as an association. I'm looking forward to put all my energy and effort into these tasks, together with the other board members, Euralarm members and delegates."

As priorities for the coming period Enzo Peduzzi mentioned amongst others the implementation of an Euralarm Office in Brussels and the establishment of open communication with members. He also mentioned offering an efficient platform for communications. Other priorities are the strengthening of liaisons with other organisations and with relevant European institutions.

Enzo Peduzzi was chairman of the Services section of Euralarm. He is the director for Industry Affairs with Siemens Building Technologies Switzerland. He started his professional career in Cerberus where he covered various general management positions in companies active in the fire safety and security business in Switzerland, USA, Portugal and Italy. After the acquisition by Siemens he became leader of the business unit with global responsibility for the fire safety systems & solutions business of Siemens. In 2011 he took up his current position of director.
